Dear Members of the Class of 2011,

As I write this you are finishing finals and getting ready for Senior Week and Commencement. By the time you read it, you will be Muhlenberg alumni. Then? Well, if you're like most people you'll put this yearbook away for a while, and then a longer while, and then another longer while, digging it out every few years when you get together with old friends or prepare to come back to 'Berg for a reunion.

So what can I say to you that will be relevant next month, and five years from now, and fifty years from now? That's a challenge, but I'll give it a try.

First, I know your time at Muhlenberg mattered to the College, and I hope it mattered to you. We've had an eventful four years during your time here. We survived the Great Recession. The campus changed in important ways: a new science building opened, the new Wood Commons was built, the Village was constructed, Rehearsal House was created, Hillel was enlarged. We had triumphs on the athletic fields (from our first ever undefeated football team in your freshman year to women's basketball going to the Sweet Sixteen in your senior year), and on our stages (Ruddigore, Pojamo Game, Urinetown, Bat Boy, and many others). I watched many of you grow in maturity, intellect, and leadership abilities. Your four years here were fun and satisfying for me – and I hope they were for you too.

When you came back (and I hope you will come back often), you will notice more changes: the students will seem younger; you will probably be shocked by their hairstyles, their clothes, their music. Your professors will gradually become old, then ancient, and finally they'll retire. There will be younger faculty who didn't teach you and who you can't remember.

Don't let any of those changes daunt you. Every generation has this experience. Just look a little harder and you'll find that the Muhlenberg spirit hasn't really changed at all. We'll still be the same close, caring community. We'll still insist on great teaching. We'll still set the bar high, and we'll still be providing students with the support they need to meet those high standards. We'll still be committed to the liberal arts. We'll still field great athletic teams and stage great shows. We'll still be preparing talented young men and women for lives of leadership and service in a wide range of professions. We'll still take pride in your accomplishments. And we'll still need your active engagement, your loyalty, and your enthusiasm.

At your freshman convocation, on a warm August evening in 2007, I asked you several questions: Will you push yourself to achieve your full academic potential? Will you make strong and lasting friendships? Will you learn to laugh at yourself and realize that you don't have all the answers? Will you protect the weak and vulnerable? Will you be an active participant in this caring community, rather than a passive beneficiary of its services and pleasures? Eventually, will you support this place with your time, your talent, and your treasure?

I hope you were able to answer "yes" to all these questions by the time you graduated, and I hope the lessons you learned at Muhlenberg have served you well in life. If I am still at Muhlenberg when next you visit, I hope you will stop in and say hello. If not, come back anyway. The College will always be your home, and will always need your support.

Cordially,
Randy Helm

Fellow Graduates of the Class of 2011,

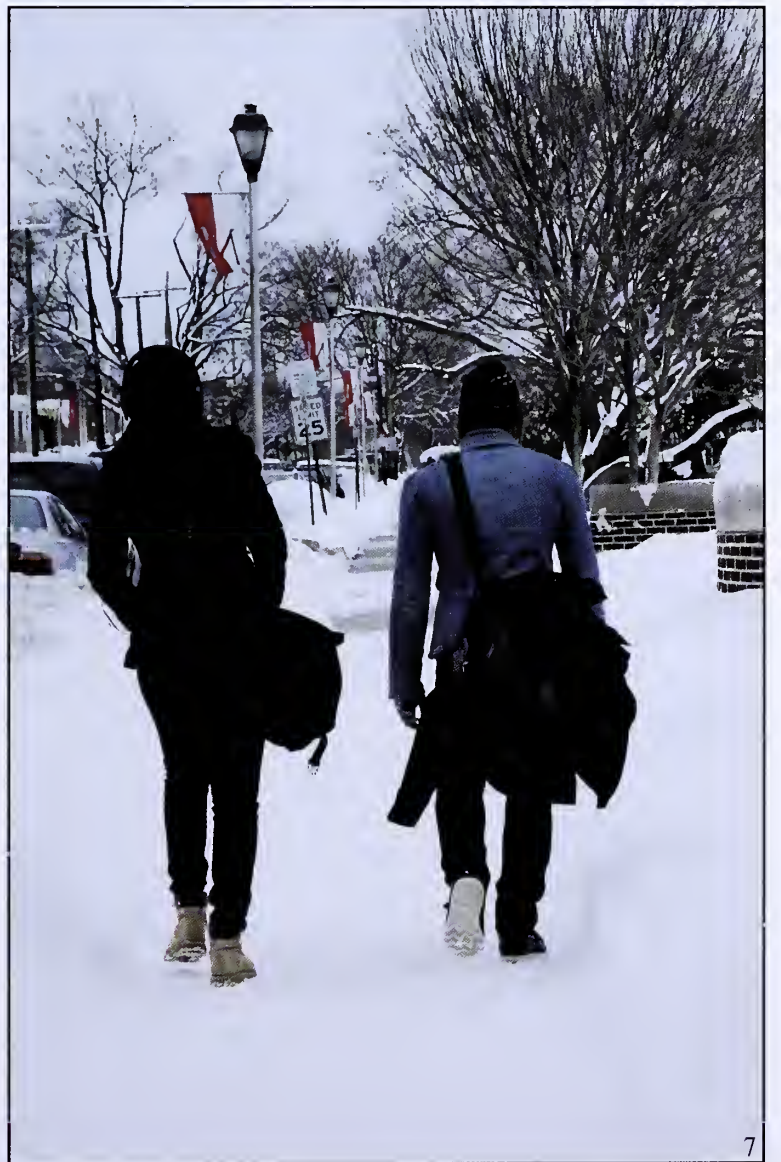

I have had the utmost pleasure serving as Student Body President for this past academic year and I can't help but reflect on the time that we've shared together. In four short years, we transitioned from timid first year students to confident graduates ready to take on the world, all the while leaving a strong mark on Muhlenberg College.

Together, we have had the good fortune of being at Muhlenberg during a time of incredible changes to the beautiful campus that we have shared. We came to Muhlenberg to find a sparkling new science building and witnessed the magnificent transformation of Seegers Union, encompassing the grandeur of the Wood Dining Commons. We've seen our theater and dance program grow into a new rehearsal house and proudly watched our Hillel House expand to twice the size. However, just as we've watched our campus transform, we've seen ourselves transform into distinguished individuals with a wealth of knowledge and experiences. Now, as we move into the next phase of our lives and begin down our separate paths, we can seek comfort in the fact that we are now well equipped to face life's challenges and make instrumental contributions to our society, knowing that each of us shares a history at Muhlenberg that will stay with us forever.

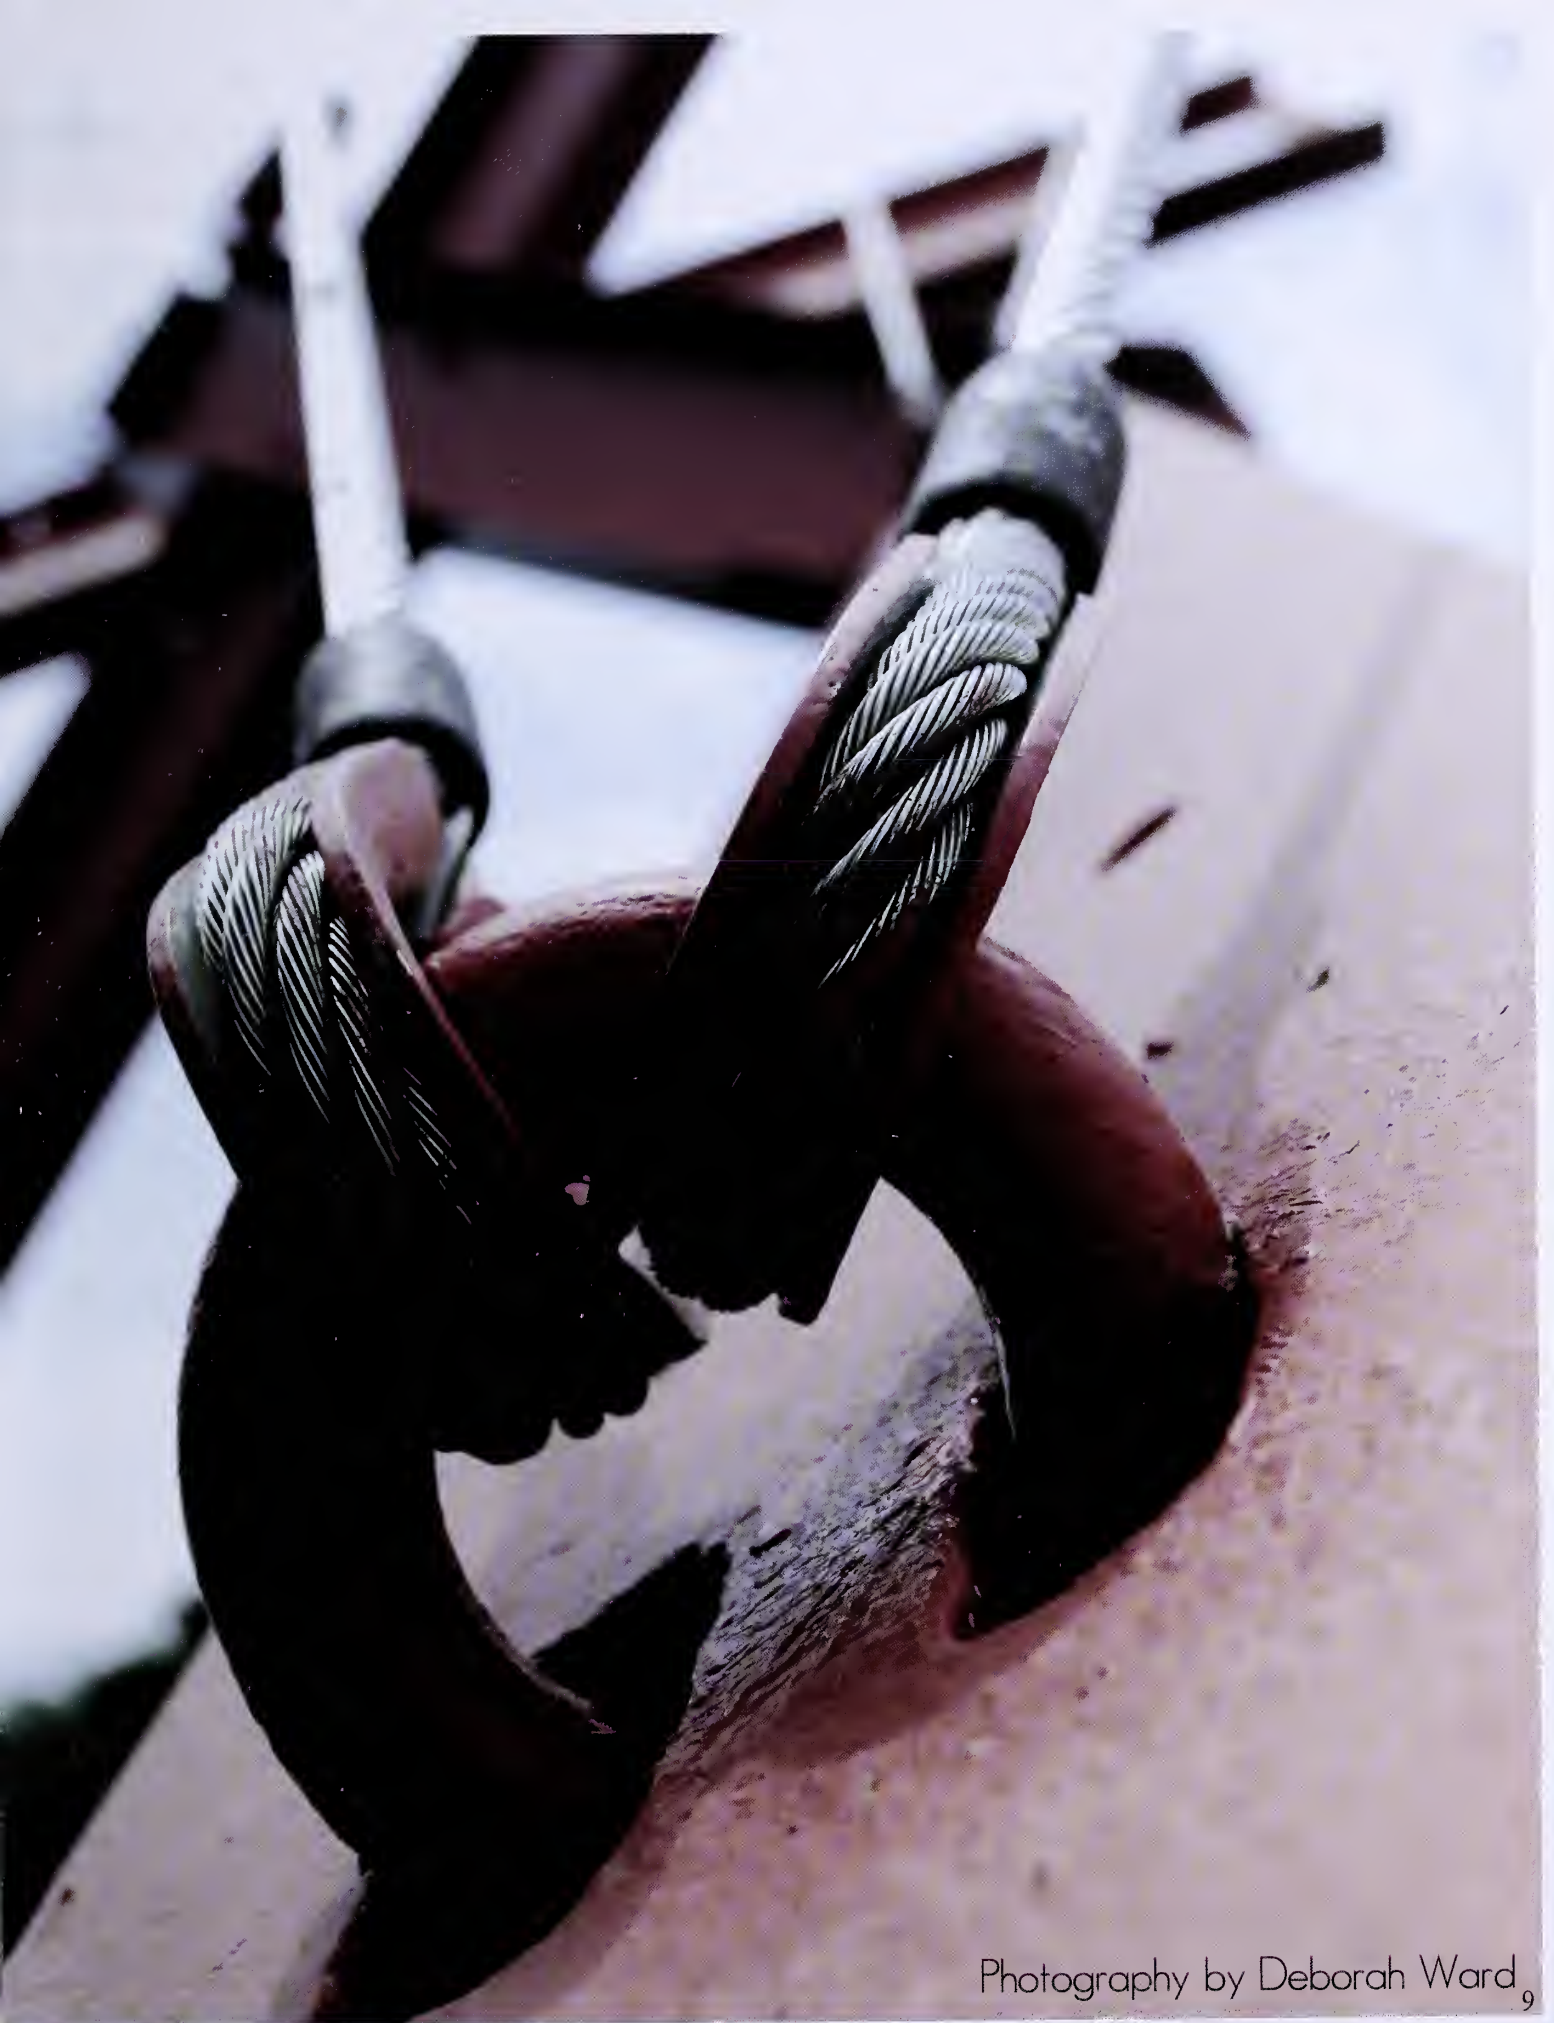

I would like to thank each of you for allowing me to represent you during the 2010-2011 academic year; a year that I hope was the best of your college career. I am thankful for your support and the opportunity to have worked so closely with many of you. I will never forget that my future started at Muhlenberg and with all of you.

Samuel Landman

mission statement

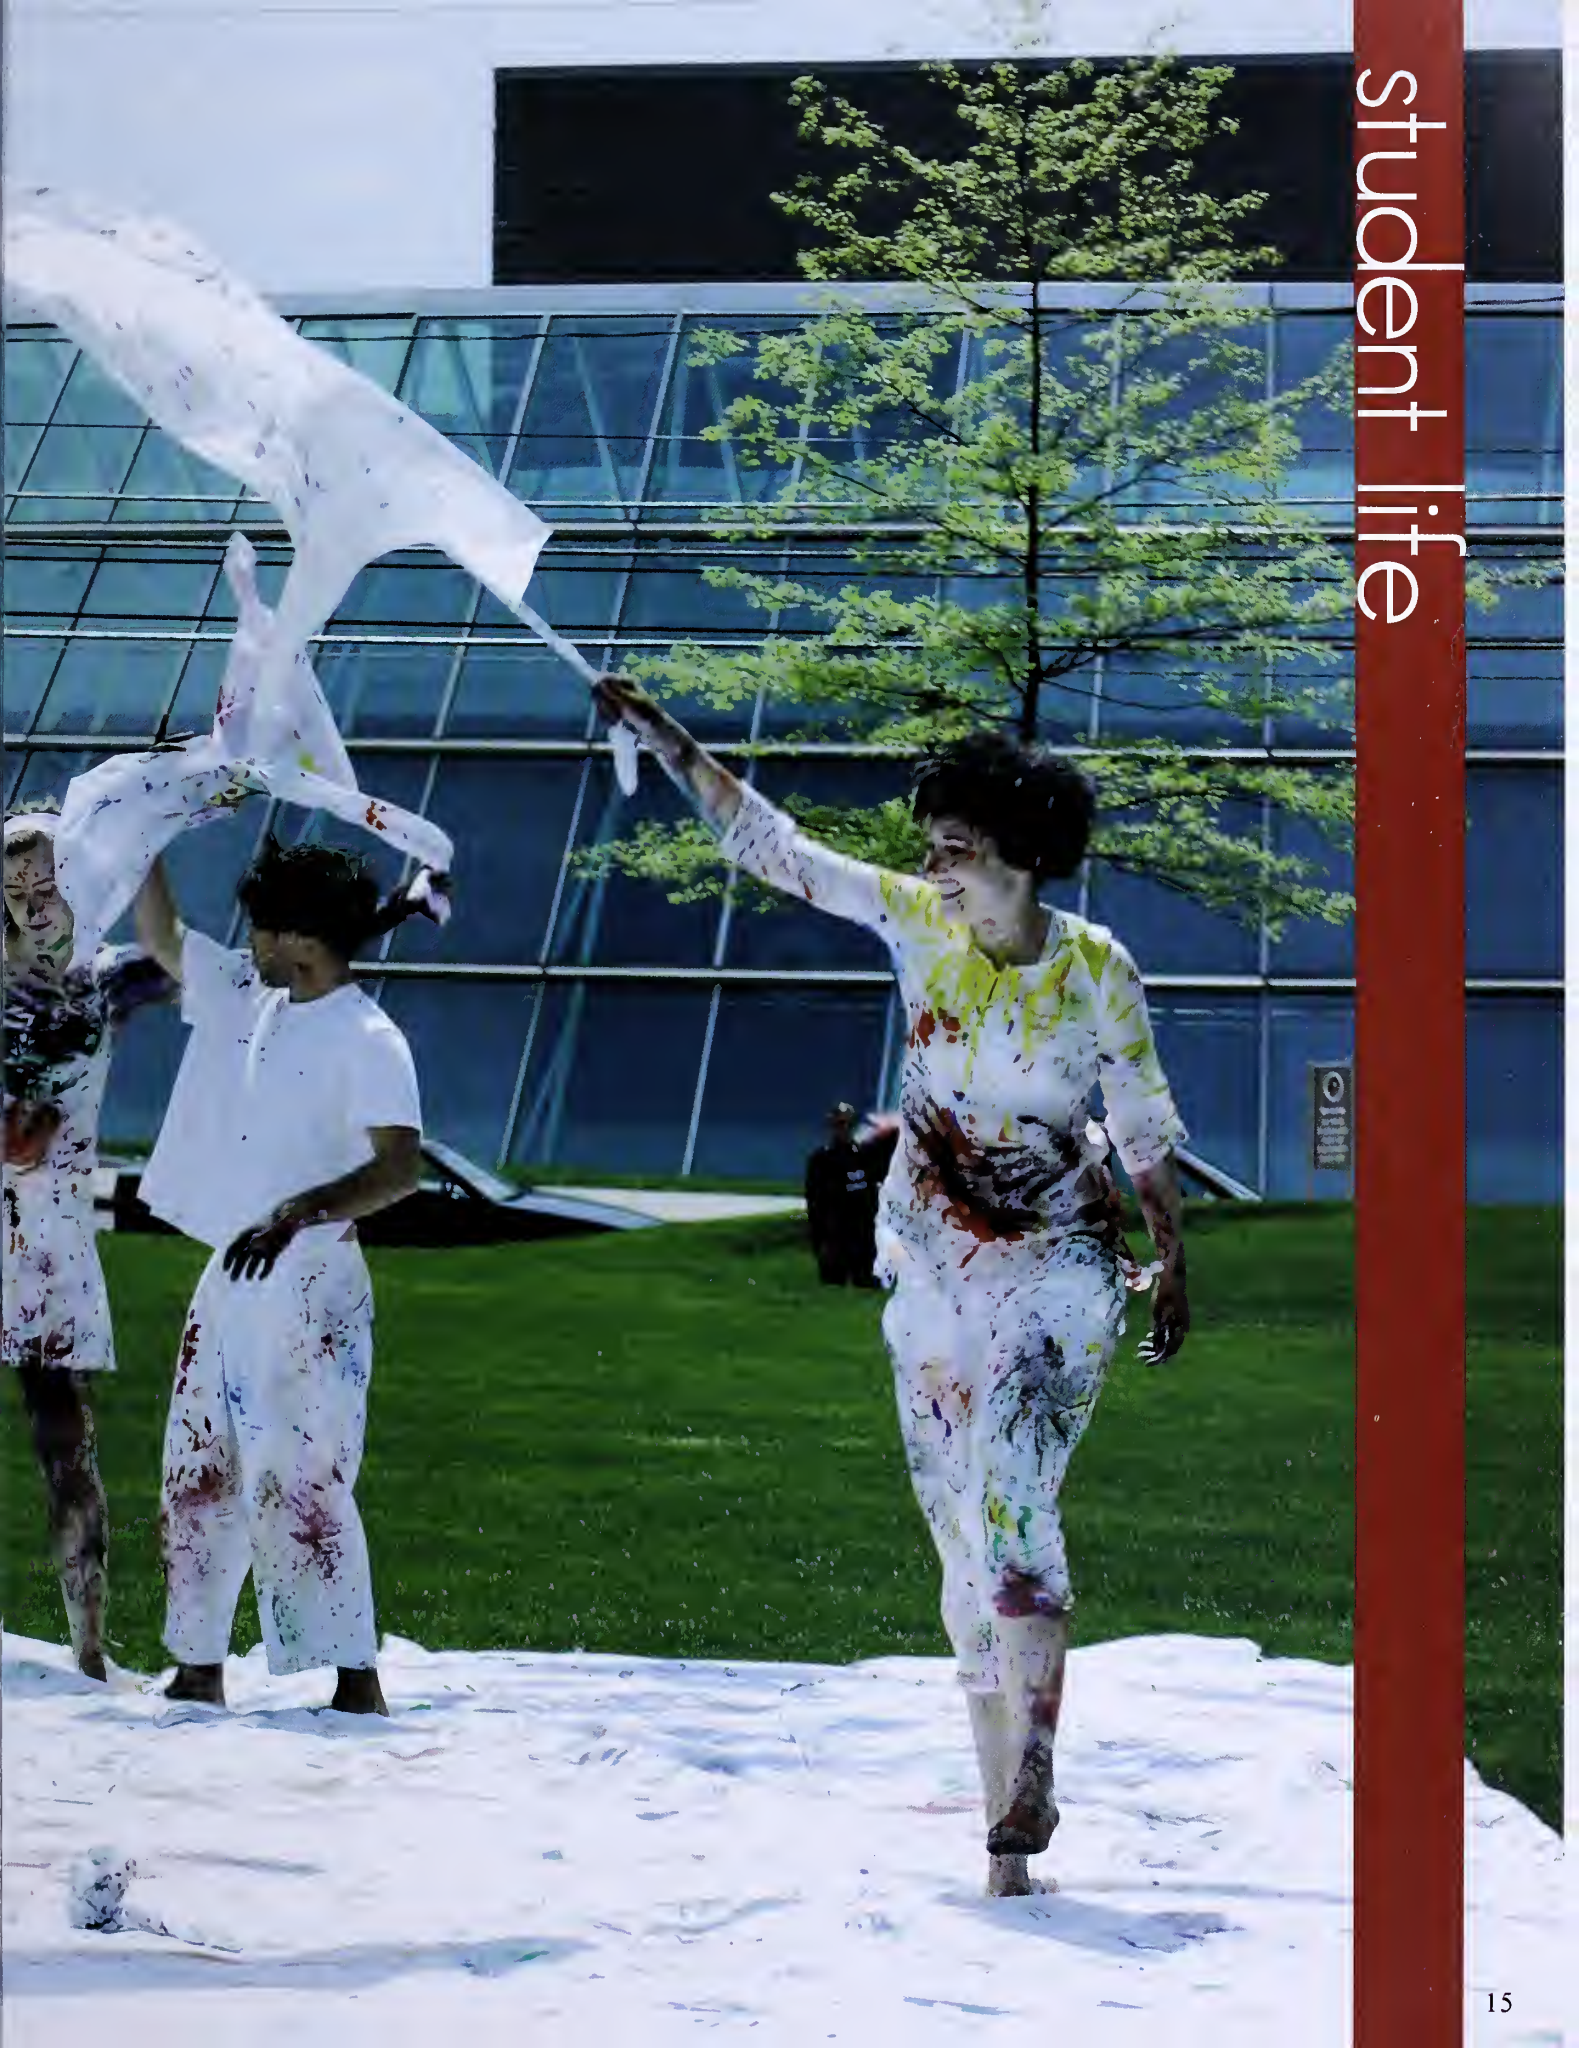

Muhlenberg College aims to develop independent critical thinkers who are intellectually agile, characterized by a zest for reasoned and civil debate, knowledgeable about the achievements and traditions of diverse civilizations and cultures, able to express ideas with clarity and grace, committed to life-long learning, equipped with ethical and civic values, and prepared for lives of leadership and service. The College is committed to providing an intellectually rigorous undergraduate education within the context of a supportive, diverse residential community. We are also committed to educating the whole person through experiences within and beyond the classroom. Our curriculum integrates the traditional liberal arts with selected pre-professional studies. Our faculty are passionate about teaching, value close relationships with students, and are committed to the pedagogical and intellectual importance of research. Honoring its historical heritage from the Lutheran Church and its continuing connection with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Muhlenberg welcomes and celebrates a variety of faith traditions on campus and encourages members of the College community to value spiritual life.

"explororientation"

Student Advisors eagerly waited by Walz, Prosser and Brown as the first wave of cars entered the Muhlenberg Campus. The day was nothing but sunny and filled with cheers of current students welcoming the new freshmen class.

Prepared with their camouflage t-shirts, Student Advisors led the "Explororientation" and helped the Freshmen Class find their direction at Muhlenberg. The weekend was filled with activities, luncheons, and memories in the making. Events came to a culmination as first year students gathered in Egner Chapel for Convocation, a tradition hosted by President Helm, faculty and staff.

Ari Brandsdorfer and Kamila Jacob (left) were named 2010 Homecoming King and Queen.

The football team suited up, the cheerleaders grabbed their pom poms, the stands filled with enthusiastic fans, and the Muhlenberg community anxiously awaited the beginning of the Homecoming Weekend football game. Fans did not leave Scotty Wood Stadium disappointed: the Mules ran a 25-yard touchdown catch in overtime to end the game in a thrilling 33-27 win against Gettysburg.

The entire campus was filled with returning alumni, parents, relatives, faculty, and excited students. Homecoming Weekend is a time for all members of the Muhlenberg family to come together and share their love for the sense of community that envelops campus.

Exciting sports games and fun-filled dances were only a few of the many activities throughout the weekend. All of these events gave alumni the opportunity to enjoy their return to their former "home" in addition to providing venues for the current student body to celebrate their current "home". For years to come, Homecoming Weekend will always be a time dedicated to showcasing everyone's Muletastic spirit.

Muhlenberg Men's Soccer Fight Song:
Here we go, Here we go, Here we go!
Muhlenberg you're the best we all know!
You're the team, You're supreme, Number 1
And we love you MUHLENBERG!

Here we go, Here we go, Here we go!
Side by side we will go onto glory!
Here we go, Here we go, Here we go!
Oh, MUHLENBERG, Oh MUHLENBERG
You are the greatest! Hey!

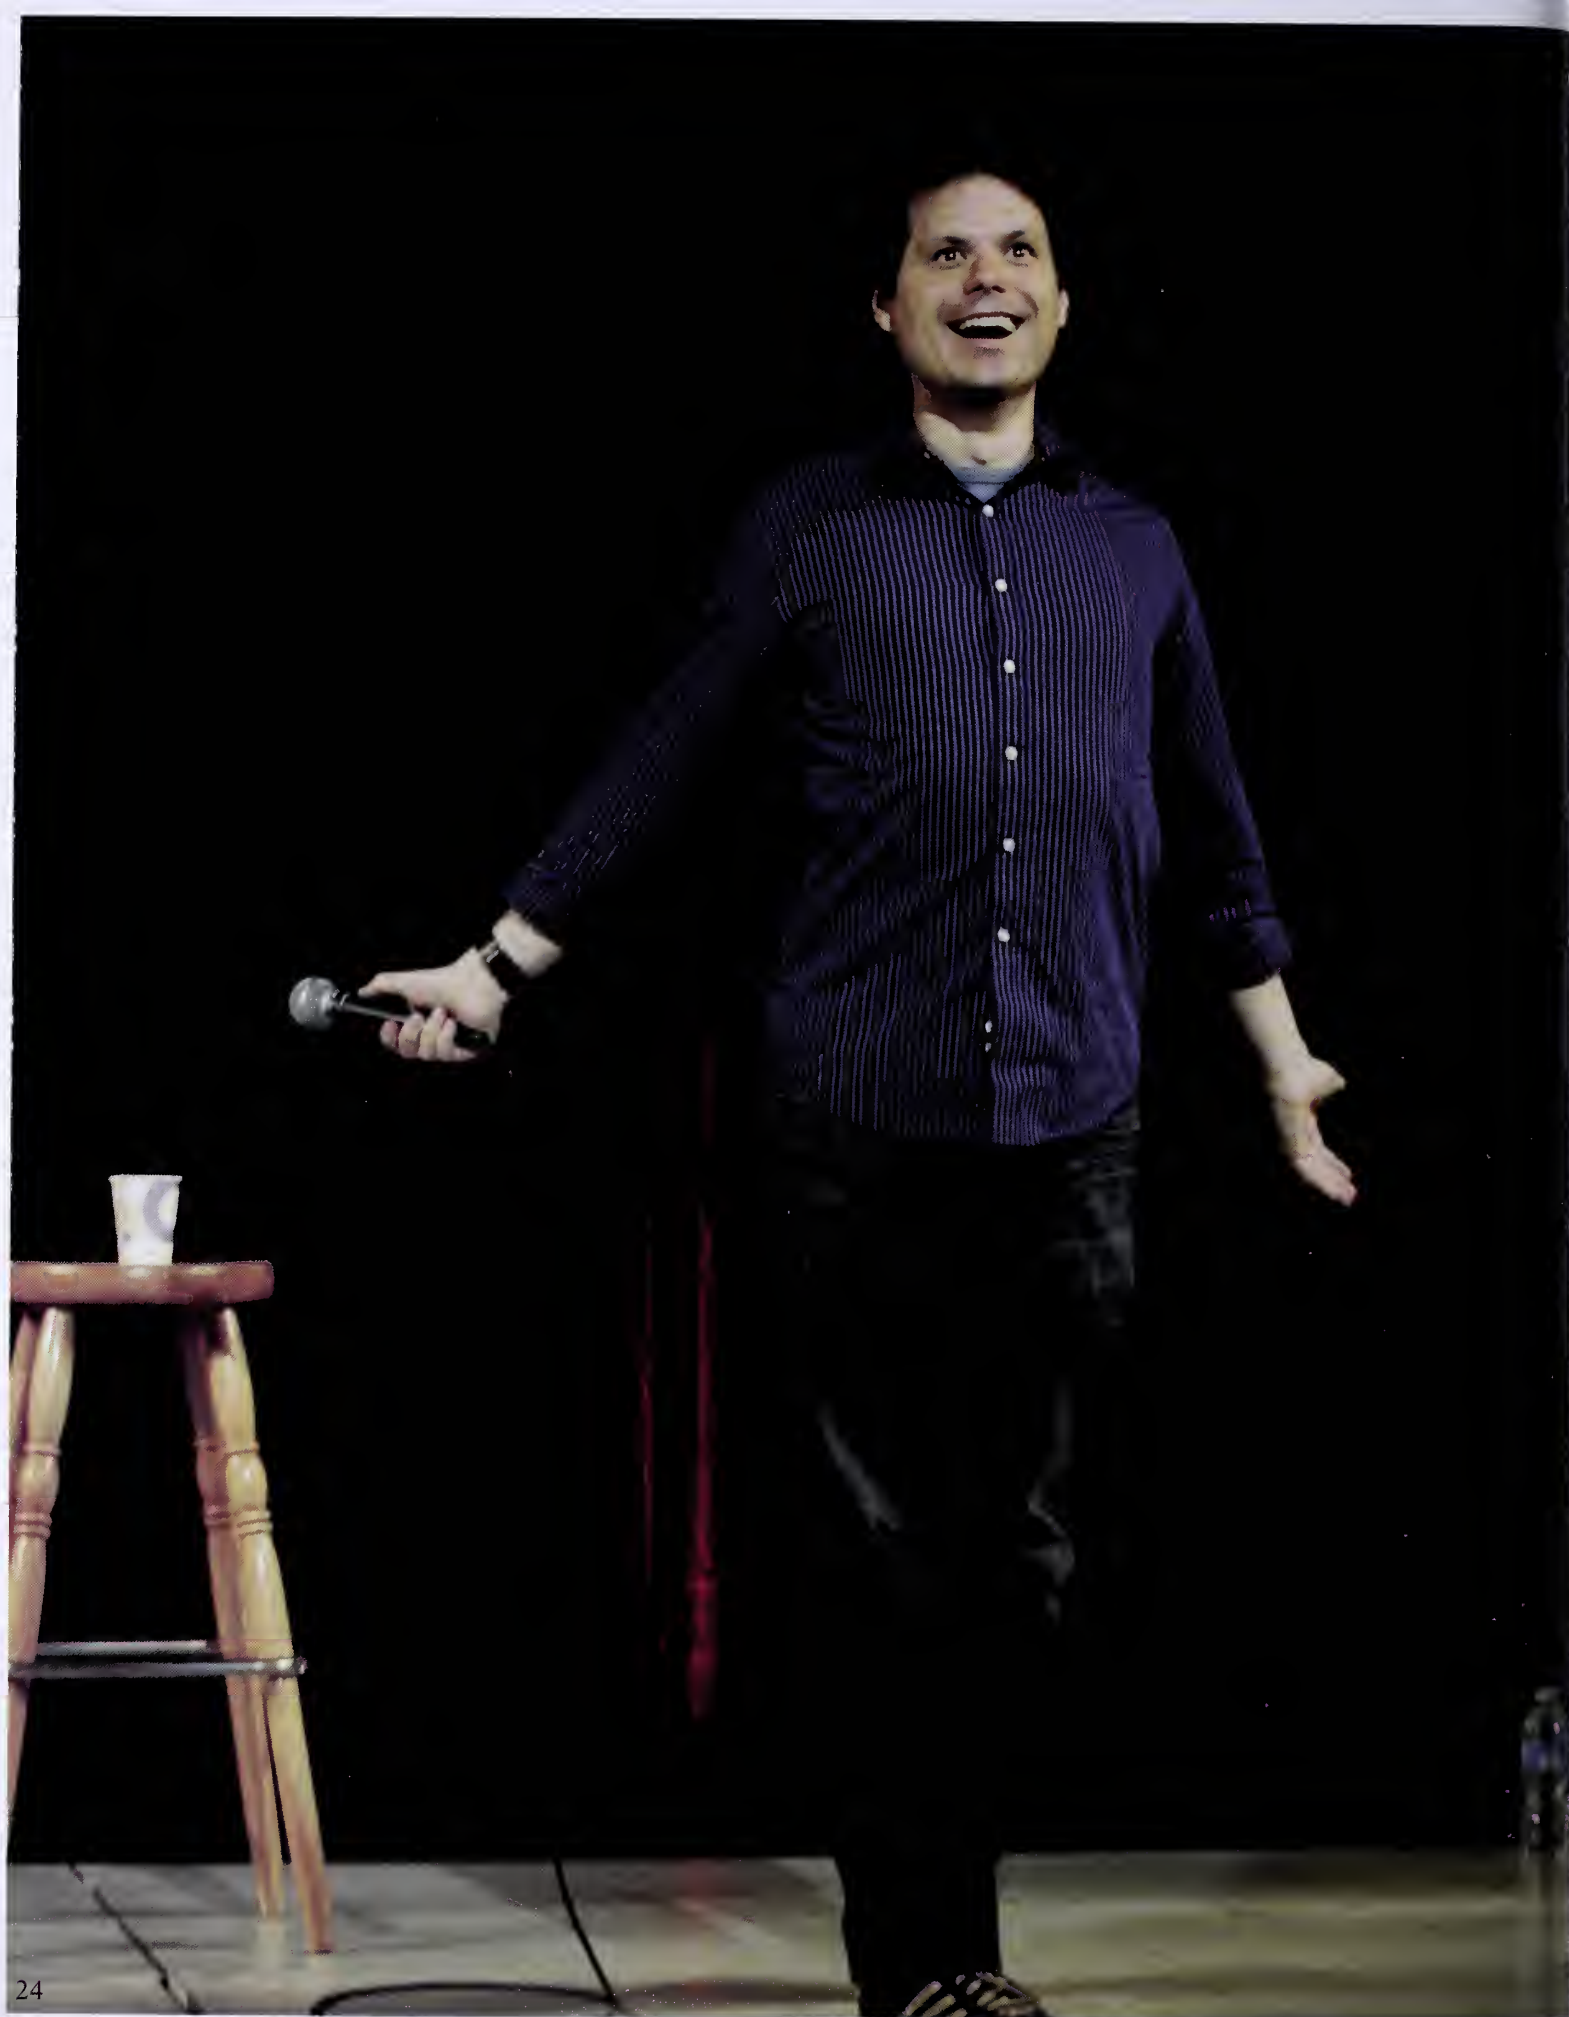

Muhlenberg College's Family Weekend was held from November 5th - 7th. Students enjoyed the quality time with their families on campus as they attended student performances, lunches, and information sessions. Football fans endured the unbearable heat to watch their Mules defeat Ursinus, with a final score of 27-20. When the brutal sun went down for the night, families packed into the Empie Theatre to watch Muhlenberg's production of "Pajama Game," a classic musical comedy about striking pajama factory workers. After the curtain closed, visitors headed to the "Late Night at the GQ" in Seegers Union to experience what really goes on after hours on campus. The weekend came to a close with the First Time Dean's List Recognition Celebration in Egner Memorial Chapel.

michael ian black

Many Muhlenberg students were delighted to hear that this year's comedian would be author, director, screenwriter and regular guest on VH1's "I Love the..." series, Michael Ian Black. Black did not disappoint the student body in his hour and half long stand-up set filled with humorous anecdotes and silly physical comedy.

west fest

West Fest is an annual outdoor picnic held in the west quad on campus during the first semester. The Brown Mall is transformed into an amusement park filled with slides, activities, and booths. The event is sponsored by the Office of Residential Services, which aims to engage students in creating a close-knit community. West Fest's sister event, East Fest, is held in the east quad during the spring. Both events boast every college student's two favorite things: free food and gigantic inflatable toys.

midnight breakfast

The only night of the year featuring both hot, fresh pancakes in the wee hours of the morning and President Helm in a top hat and tails. Faculty serve breakfast, students eat their finals blues away, and everyone gets up to show that it's fun to stay at the YMCA.

From The Muhlenberg Weekly review by Jillian Bevacqua:

What do chicken wings, Hello Kitty, and Muhlenberg Lacrosse all have in common? They were all things that students challenged hip-hop artist Chiddy of Chiddy Bang to rap about: freestyle. Based on the din of laughs and cheers from the crowd, he passed the challenge with flying colors.

Chiddy Bang, made up of Chidera "Chiddy" Anamege and Noah "Xaphoon Jones" Berestin, met in 2008 at Drexel University. Their most recent single, "Opposite of Adults," made it into the Top 100 in the United States for the year 2010.

"It was great to see such a famous performer at this school," said Chris Galletta, '13. "There was an awesome atmosphere that made it seem like a big concert in someplace like New York City, especially with everyone dancing and throwing their hands in the air."

mr. mühlenberg

"Mr. Muhlenberg was all about competing with myself. By confronting all my insecurities, I was able to unleash my inner superstar and prove that being true to yourself is the only way to win. Plus I looked really good doing it."

- Patrick McTamany

"I'm your biggest fan, I'll follow you until you love me..." Lady Gaga's lyrics rang true at this year's Mr. Muhlenberg pageant. Ten gentlemen of Muhlenberg competed in a Paparazzi-themed contest of wit, charm, grace, and spandex for the love of the screaming fans and the coveted crown. At the end of the night, Junior Patrick McTamany (who impressed the judges with a fierce catwalk and a showstopping rendition of "Dont Cry for Me, Argentina") took home the title of Mr. Muhlenberg. He captured the crown from a formidable lineup of opponents: Matt Dunne, Dan Jimenez, Jordan Posner, Alex Levin, Tom Flatley, Stephen Brickman, Dan Feldman, Doug Dulaney, and Ari Brandsdorfer.

From the Relay for Life Website:

"The American Cancer Society Relay For Life is a life-changing event that gives everyone in communities across the globe a chance to celebrate the lives of people who have battled cancer, remember loved ones lost, and fight back against the disease... Relay starts with a Survivors Lap, an inspirational time when survivors are invited to circle the track together and help everyone celebrate the victories we've achieved over cancer."

About Muhlenberg Relay:

This year, 503 Muhlenberg students strapped on their sneakers and took a lap (or two, or twenty) around Scotty Wood Stadium as part of the 2011 Relay for Life. A total of 55 teams registered for the 12-hour event, many wearing tie-dye shirts in accordance with the theme of "Peace Out Cancer". All of the Greek social and service fraternities and sororities, several student organizations, and a few ragtag groups of dorm-mates (such as the "2nd Floor Animals") participated. Together, those teams raised a total of $21,691.78 for the American Cancer Society. The "Top Team" of the weekend was Berg Biddies and Bros, who raised $2,064.00. While the financial contributions were impressive, it was the emotional dedication of each team to the cause that truly made the 2011 Relay for Life an outstanding event.

"Jefferson Field Day had its 20th Anniversary in 2011 and we could not have asked for a better day. We had over 200 Muhlenberg students sign up to volunteer and over 500 students from Jefferson, not including their teachers, parents, and staff. The planning committee was made up of about 10 Muhlenberg students who planned every aspect of the day. We helped design t-shirts, printed out flyers, recruited volunteers, sent invitations and thank yous, worked with different campus offices and departments, and set up the day of the event. As a committee, we put many hours of work into this event. As long as both Muhlenberg and Jefferson Students think it is the best day of the year, we know the work is worth it and will continue the hard work for the next 20 years."

"At Baccalaureate President Helm quoted a Muhlenberg senior who said that Jefferson Field Day is the best day of the year. I have also talked to some Jefferson fourth graders who wait all year for their chance to visit Muhlenberg College. I have to agree with both the Muhlenberg and Jefferson students and say that Jefferson Field Day is definitely worth all the planning that goes into the event."

hillel renovations

"The expansion of Hillel at Muhlenberg College will benefit the entire campus. The new Hillel House is available and open to all students and faculty and it provides a comfortable, welcoming environment for all. In addition to traditional Hillel events such as weekly Shabbat dinners, Bagel Brunches, and Jewish holiday celebrations, Hillel will also house campus wide events such as speakers and meetings. We welcome the entire campus to come experience this amazing new home on campus!" - Myah Blazer, President of Hillel

Remember hunting for tables in Garden Room with your tray of chicken nuggets in hand? Those days are over now, thanks to the newest addition to Muhlenberg's campus, the Wood Dining Commons. Commonly known to students as the Campus Restaurant or "CR," this dining hall was built with tremendous amounts of seating and expanded kitchen facilities capable of preparing a much wider variety of menu items to feed hungry Mules.

The Sodexo staff works through breakfast, lunch, and dinner (hooray for extended service hours!) to serve up international cuisine, comfort foods, salads, pasta, burgers, sandwiches, wraps, and more. For the significant portion of the Muhlenberg community who keeps Kosher, there are separate service stations, plates, and flatware for meat and dairy meal options. Did we mention we are the first college in the nation to have a full Kosher kitchen?

For those who miss the comfort of the familiar GR, fear not - the former dining area is still open to students as the "New Event Space".

The new dining hall was named after Bob and Ilene Wood (above, enjoying a snack), long-time friends and benefactors of Muhlenberg College.

The Muhlenberg Community Garden broke ground in the spring of 2010 after several months of collaboration amongst faculty, staff, and students that occurred in a variety of classes, informal discussions, and Garden Committee meetings. Since then, the garden has had a successful first year filled with produce, community gatherings, and modest expansion. The purpose of the garden is to bring together individuals from all aspects of the college community to work on a common project while sharing in the benefits of a green space and fresh food.

During the 2010-2011 academic year, the Garden Committee held several successful events using produce from the garden, including a Pesto Party, a Stuffed Pepper Party, and a Solso Party. They also collaborated with EnAct and HART to serve a vegetarian dinner with Eggplant Parmesan using eggplants from the garden. The Community Garden wrapped up the spring semester with a yoga program where students could de-stress during exams. Students will be living in the Garden House to maintain the garden throughout the summer.

PRESENTATION BOARD

Active Minds

Active Minds at Muhlenberg College is an organization working to utilize the student voice to change the conversation about mental health on our campus. It is a student-run mental health awareness, education and advocacy group. Active Minds works to increase students' awareness of mental health issues through campus-wide events in an effort to remove the stigma that surrounds mental health issues, and create a comfortable environment for an open conversation about mental health issues on campus.

Art Association is a club committed to spreading the spirit of creativity throughout Muhlenberg and the local community. We love to experiment with various forms of art like silkscreen, paint, and sculpture, and also explore more in depth the artists that we learn about in our classes. As part of our goal to promote the arts in the community Art Association was a large part in founding the Art Day program at Cleveland Elementary in inner-city Allentown, a program that we hope to keep running for years to come.

Art Association

ASA/ISA is an organization affiliated with the Multicultural Center that celebrates the Asian cultures represented by Muhlenberg students. In the past, our club has attended conferences and organized campus-wide events. Many of these events highlight Asian holidays, including the Chinese Mid-Autumn Festival and the Indian Diwali. ASA/ISA hosts International Week and is also established to welcome international and exchange students. We hope to share and learn from one another's experiences, while developing a social haven far from home.

Asian/International Students Association

The goal of "Bake o Difference" is to raise money for the Allentown Ecumenical Food Bank through bake sales and a campus wide ordering service. People with a common interest in baking can enjoy their hobby, while helping the community in the process. This is a newly formed club, but we are hoping to continue to have a positive influence on the community.

Bake a Difference

Best Buddies is an international organization dedicated to establishing a global volunteer movement that creates one-to-one friendships and leadership development for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Every student involved in this club is specially paired with an adult from the community. Through a monthly group outing, individual activities, and phone calls, Best Buddies promotes friendships and better the lives of adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities and our students.

Best Buddies

The Chemistry & Biochemistry Club's mission is to promote and foster interest in the sciences, both in and out of the Muhlenberg community. The club puts on magic shows at local elementary schools, sponsors chemistry-related fundraisers, and takes science-related field trips. The club also hosts social events with the chemistry faculty throughout the year.

Chemistry & Biochemistry Club

Colleges Against Cancer

Colleges Against Cancer is a club on campus that focuses on spreading awareness about cancer on campus, celebrating the lives of survivors, and petitioning to legislators about health bills regarding cancer. We work to support the American Cancer Society's local cancer support programs, research proposals, and annual fundraisers. In addition, we work together with the American Cancer Society to achieve our common goal: eliminating cancer.

The Biology Club embraces the biological sciences. The club focuses on community service and education by hosting experiments at local after-school programs and Science Day. We hope to build awareness and enable Muhlenberg students to notice the influence of biology within an ordinary day. Biology is, after all, the science of our life and the life that surrounds us.

Biology Club

The Muhlenberg College Republicans was founded during the 1992 Presidential Election. The Republican organization has served to promote the basic conservative principles of democracy, capitalism, small government, strong national defense, and the preservation of life, liberty, and property. We work to bring a balanced spectrum of political views and ideologies to Muhlenberg's campus, and as young conservative activists, our organization helps elect Republicans to local and national office.

French Club

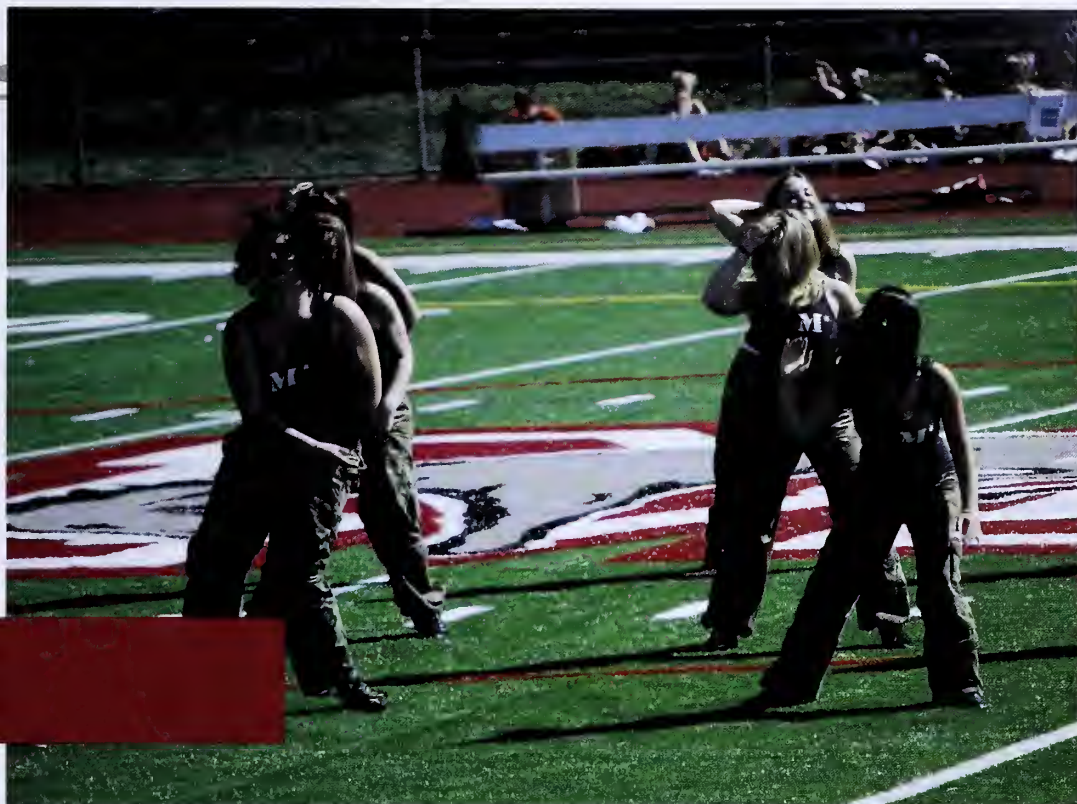

Le Cercle Français, more commonly known as the French Club, unites students of all years and ability to speak French in a casual, friendly environment. In addition to the weekly Table, the French Club runs crêpe sale fundraisers for Haiti, hosts the National French week on campus, throws potluck dinners and French film nights, and takes occasional trips to see French-related events off campus. It is a way to bring students together with a shared passion for language and culture.

Habitat For Humanity

Habitat for Humanity is a nonprofit, Christian affiliated housing ministry which works with people everywhere. Habitat's "Collegiate Challenge" allows volunteers to travel throughout the United States and participate in week-long building projects at their host's work sites. More than 14,000 volunteers, including members from Muhlenberg's own chapter of Habitat take part in the "Collegiate Challenge" each year, making it one of the world's largest alternative spring break programs.

Mint* is Muhlenberg's only hip hop dance team. The group performs at football and basketball halftimes as well as Mr. Muhlenberg, Homecoming, Family Weekend and other various student events. The group is audition only and practices once a week. Mint* holds auditions every fall for potential new members.

Invisible Children

Invisible Children uses film, creativity, and social action to end the use of child soldiers in Joseph Kony's rebel war and restore Northern Uganda to peace and prosperity.

Muhlenberg Theatre Association

As one of the largest student run organizations, the Muhlenberg Theatre Association enriches the campus with theatrical performance. We do this by providing opportunities to create, participate in, and attend a variety of engaging performances. The MTA, in conjunction with the Department of Theatre and Dance, produces 6 Mainstage Productions and an average of 20 Student-Run Productions each year. In addition, the MTA plans and sponsors many social events, community outreach programs and educational opportunities for its members and the campus community.

The Muhlenberg College Pep Band has grown to be a staple at football, basketball and hockey games. Whether the Mules are winning or losing, the band makes sure to get the crowd riled up with fan favorites such as, "Just Dance" or "Tequila."

Pep Band

The Perkulators are a high-energy jazz and hip-hop dance team that performs at football, soccer, basketball, and lacrosse games, as well as other student events like pep rallies, Mr. Muhlenberg, Relay for Life, and fundraisers for other clubs. With members in a diverse range of majors, from dance to accounting to neuroscience, The Perkulators are a fun group of dancers who love to entertain!

The Perkulators

The Philosophy Club is a student-run organization that offers a place for Muhlenberg students to engage in weekly intellectually stimulating conversations about subjects that most intrigue Muhlenberg students. As a student-based group, we recognize the desire for students to delve deeper into modern popular topics, as well as those depicted in text books. Due to this, the Philosophy Club offers bi-weekly student-run discussions, as well as bi-weekly professor-run discussions. The Muhlenberg Philosophy Club: Come stimulate your mind.

The sisters of Alpha Chi Omega had quite a memorable year. They had many sisterhood bonding events, formals, and lots of fun together. Alpha Chi worked closely with Turning Point: Services to End Domestic & Sexual Violence. This year, the chapter hosted a fashion show, which raised a nine hundred dollar donation to Turning Point and helped to raise awareness of domestic violence.

Delta Zeta participated in many service based endeavors this year both as an organization and as individuals. The sisters also proudly received many awards at their Regional Conference. Muhlenberg College recently recognized Xi Iota by awarding the chapter the "Dean's Award," given to the fraternal organization that has the greatest impact on its members, the school, and the greater community. Delta Zetas can be found in every kind of club and organization across campus. As a sorority, the girls always enjoy spending time together, celebrating the holidays, heading to the movies, or having dinner together.

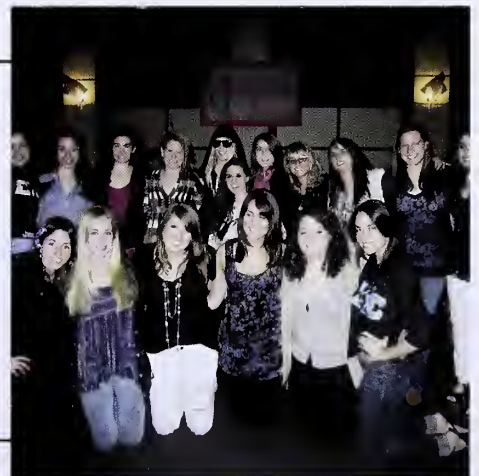

Phi Mu continued its tradition of serving its community and helping its members grow during the past school year. This year, Phi Mu welcomed 25 new women into the sisterhood, bringing a huge range of personalities, activities and ideas to our already flourishing sisterhood. Among the many events that took place throughout the year, Phi Mu held a fundraiser for its philanthropy, the Children's Miracle Network, and with the help of campus-wide donations and an ice cream a capella fest, we raised hundreds of dollars for the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Phi Sigma Sigma had a record-breaking year, filled with events, fundraisers and community service. Their first Jail and Bail fundraiser co-hosted with Delta Tau Delta helped to raise money for Allentown Community Bikeworks. The two chapters raised over $800 to help support a local cause. In March, Phi Sigma Sigma hosted its annual Rock-A-Thon, a 24-hour fundraiser to support the National Kidney Foundation. Phi Sig raised over $6,000, the most the chapter has ever raised at this event. In addition, we had guest professors and faculty come to speak to us about the importance of "lifelong learning" and planning for our post-Muhlenberg lives. Phi Sigma Sigma paired up with Phi Kappa Tau and dominated Greek Week to come in first place, and won the homecoming banner competition. With these great achievements, Phi Sigma Sigma is on the rise to be an outstanding chapter at Muhlenberg College.

On Saturday, April 30, 2011, the Alpha Tau Omega National Fraternity re-chartered the Alpha Iota chapter at Muhlenberg. This was such an exciting day for all of the brothers, their families, and their friends. The administration at Muhlenberg showed their support by ceremoniously raising the ATO flag on campus, which symbolized their return to campus. ATO President Alec Vlahos said, "Being able to lead the entire colony in to being a chapter and re-chartering is a pretty phenomenal experience."

Alpha Tau Omega

This year, Delta Tau Delta had many efforts to help various causes throughout Allentown and the world. Not only did they co-sponsor a Jail and Bail fundraiser with Phi Sigma Sigma to support Allentown Community Bikeworks, but they had a "Date A Delt" raffle competition, raffling off dates with brothers to benefit victims of the earthquake in Japan. The brothers also performed acts of community service, both as a chapter in Allentown, and in a smaller group in Israel this past March.

Along with the sisters of Phi Sigma Sigma, Phi Kappa Tau became the 2011 Greek Week Champions. This year, Phi Tau hosted a dance to support their philanthropy, Hole in the Wall Gang, which was a great success. The mission of Phi Kappa Tau is to champion a lifelong commitment to brotherhood, learning, ethical leadership and exemplary character, which the brothers have definitely lived up to this year.

This year, Sigma Phi Epsilon hosted their annual blood drive on campus. In addition, they performed more community service hours than any other chapter at Muhlenberg this year. The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon would like to congratulate the graduating brothers, and thank them for continuing traditions and upholding fraternal values of the Penn Iota chapter.

Jason Daniels (above) was the first goalie in Mule history to be named first-team all-region two years in a row.

The 2010 squad cemented its legacy as one of the most successful teams in Muhlenberg College history after a 13-3-6 finish, the program's fourth run to the "Sweet 16" of the NCAA Tournament, and a Number 12 ranking in the final national poll (the highest since 1995).

Senior Ashley Brewer (right) was named Centennial Conference player of the year for the second straight season. She was also selected to the Academic All-District first team and named Muhlenberg's Outstanding Athlete by the Lehigh Valley Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women.

The Mules won the Centennial Conference championship with a 4-3 victory over Dickinson.

women's rugby

The Muhlenberg Women's Rugby Team is a club that plays other Division III and II schools in the Eastern Pennsylvania Rugby Union (EPRU). Some of the schools include: Swarthmore, Scranton, Drexel, Lebanon Valley College, Lehigh, Bryn Mawr, and Lafayette.

The majority of the team begins with absolutely no previous experience, and they encourage anybody who is interested to give it a try. The coaches teach the sport from scratch to new team members. These recruits hit the field in red knee-high socks, mouth guards, and occasionally prom dresses. Along with promoting athletic fitness, the women strive for team unity and camaraderie.

a message from mike bruckner

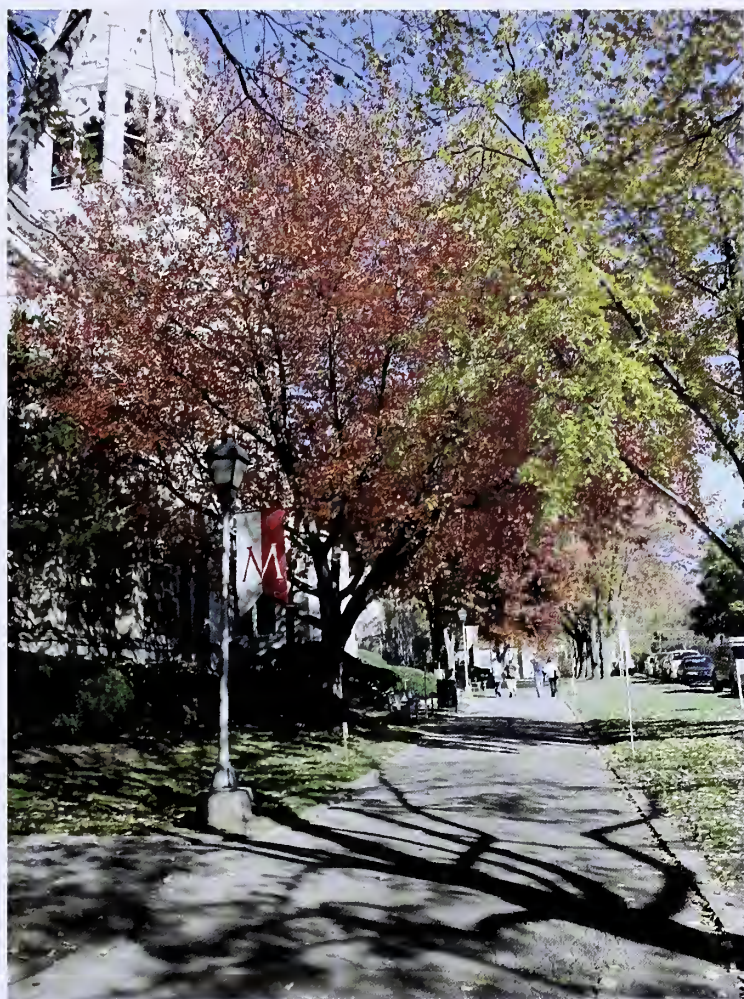

To the Members of the Class of 2011:

Congratulations. Your class certainly made an indelible mark on Muhlenberg College. Over the four years you were on campus, there were many changes - fantastic new buildings such as Rehearsal House, Hillel House, the Village and the Wood Dining Commons. Yet, the most important changes involved the individuals in your class. You grew. You developed. You matured. Because of you, the character of Muhlenberg College did not change. It remains a caring community. A community that values passionate teaching and student/faculty relationships.

Senior year was filled with many wonderful moments, and many nervous, fearful and sad moments. My hope is that the faculty and staff have done their job. You are ready for the "real world." You have developed the critical thinking skills to adapt to anything that life throws at you.

You are always welcome to come back to your alma mater. 10, 20, 30 years from now, remember the people who influenced your lives and helped shape your future successes. As you go out into the "real world," my hope is that you will follow your passion, live lives of leadership and service, and make a difference. Make us proud. Make your mark on the larger community.....

"I couldn't have asked for a better four years at Muhlenberg thanks to my friends, professors, and teammates. Looking back, being at a school like Muhlenberg definitely challenged me and prepared me well for medical school, but it also allowed me to try new things and get the most out of my college experience. A lot of my best memories are from spending time with my teammates from cross country and track. My teammates are my best friends and they are the reason why going to practice everyday was something I really looked forward to. I will never forget the memories I have of all our runs together, whether it was going on city runs or chasing turkeys in the Lehigh Parkway. I will also miss all the fun I had hanging out with the team on the weekends and after our meets, especially Chris Dolan's dance moves. Thanks for a great four years!"

"Being the only male, vegetarian, ballet dancer I've ever known, I came to Muhlenberg College expecting to have a less than ideal social life. To my surprise, however, I found this campus was crawling with a plethora of amazing, compassionate, and hysterical individuals. I bonded with my fellow science nerds while sneaking into the NSB after hours so that we could finish our extensive Organic Chemistry and Biology homework. I bonded with my fellow EMTs while controlling bleeding students and I bonded with my ATO brothers while planting trees at 9am in Allentown after a night filled with anything but sleeping. I certainly hope if you're reading this small blurb five, ten or twenty years down the line that this paragraph does not come off as a pompous display of my social life, but rather that this paragraph reminds you of the people you cherished during your time at Muhlenberg. Be they the players on your sports team, the sisters in your sorority, or just the freshman year roommate you were randomly assigned, never forget the individuals who picked you up when you were down or cheered you on when you were up. To the class of '11: Good luck in your future endeavours, and thank you for making my time at Muhlenberg unforgettable!"

"Muhlenberg College has helped me grow in different ways by providing different challenges and opportunities, both academically and with extracurricular activities. As a Psychology major I was also able to take art and political science classes, which helped further my interests. I was a member of the Chamber Orchestra, Pep Band, and the Muhlenberg College Student Government Association for four years. I was elected as the Vice President of the SGA for my final year. As a sophomore I joined The Phi Mu Fraternity and served the organization as the Treasurer for the 2010 calendar year. My time at Muhlenberg has given me the confidence to try new things, which has helped me develop my leadership and interpersonal skills. As I move on beyond Muhlenberg, I will take with me what I have learned as well as fond memories."

"In searching for the right words that would best speak to us, the Class of 2011, as we graduate from Muhlenberg, my mind automatically turns to music. My advice comes from that which I know well: songs. Their lyrics carry power, guidance, and tell us important lessons to take with us on our life's journeys. They say, "Just whistle while you work," "Keep holdin' on," "Believe in what your heart is saying, hear the melody that's playing. There's no time to waste, there's so much to celebrate," "You just remember what your ol' pal said for you've got a friend in me," "Don't stop believing," "And the dreams that you dare to dream really do come true," "Let's get back to the heart of matters. It's the heart that matters most," "You gotta have faith," "If it's cold outside, show the world the warmth of your smile," "Don't be afraid to let them show... your true colors, true colors are beautiful like a rainbow," "Give the heavens above more than just a passing glance," "And when you get the chance to sit it out or dance, I hope you dance." As you embark on new adventures, remember to take the messages of these songs with you as you go, allowing them to reassure you, invigorate you, giving you strength, hope, and faith."

"The most important thing Muhlenberg has given me for my present and future has been Phi Kappa Tau. First and foremost they have been my friends. The memories and experiences I have with these goofy, wonderful, loving people are what I will remember and will miss most about Muhlenberg. Everything from giant Medieval Times trips to Ping-Pong Tournaments to Weekend Getaways to everyday life living among them have been beyond my wildest dreams and have made all the studying and effort I put into school worth it. Another most important thing Muhlenberg has given me is the MTA because their production of The Last Days of Judas Iscariott led me to meeting Porker Reichman, my boyfriend and my best friend. He loves life and people's well-being so much and it makes me so happy. He puts me in such high spirits and he loves me being truly me — no conditions, no rules. I truly love him so much. He has honestly been the best part of my four years at college."

last lecture

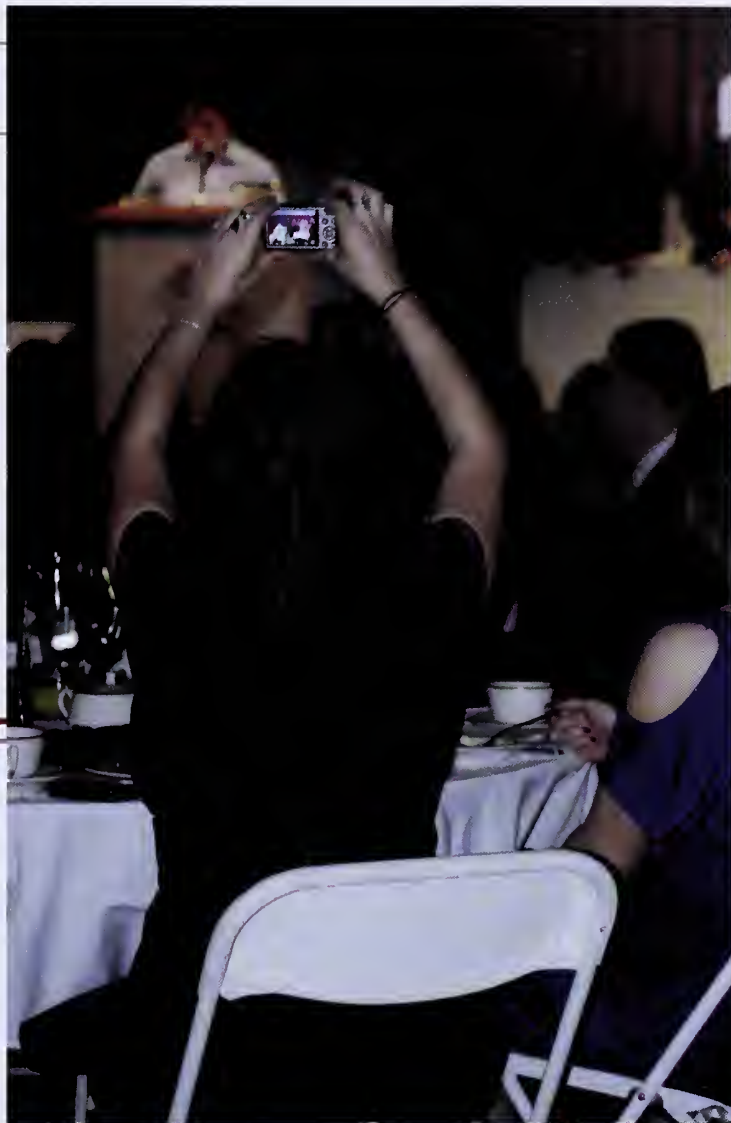

The Class of 2011 nominated Dr. Samuel M. Laposata, Visiting Professor of Economics, to deliver the Last Lecture. He gave his lecture, entitled "From the Greenhouse to the Garden," during the Senior Celebration Dinner on May 19, 2011.

"In all of this job stuff, I can think of at least 4 truths (this is pruned down from a lot more):

1. You know a lot more than you think you know. You have to have faith in yourself and you will need that faith, especially during these turning points in your life;
2. Your mind cannot analyze or comprehend all that happens to you or around you, but your inner spirit somehow puts it all together. You have to listen to the inner spirit, which some call a gut feeling, or a gut instinct, or whatever;
3. You will get a lot more out of life if you are willing to occasionally step outside of your comfort zone, even if it's hard to do so;
4. Things will happen to you that you cannot control - so you have to acknowledge that you don't have as much control as you'd like. So you have to focus on the things that you can control."

The Senior Champagne Brunch gave the members of the graduating class the opportunity to look backward on their time as Muhlenberg undergraduates and forward to their new roles as 'Berg Alumni. Seniors received the letters that they had written to themselves as freshmen during their orientation weekend four years ago. Laughs, smiles, and even a few tears were shared as the Class of 2011 took a few moments to read messages from their "former" selves.

"We now have a responsibility to ourselves and others to create and sustain bonds that nurture our continual growth. We all have the capacity to do great things. Take ownership of the ideas and relationships we have cultivated here at this exceptional college. Seize today for we do not know what tomorrow will bring. Many of us may not realize that we're going to change the world, but each of us will. I wish us resilience and success in all of our endeavors. Even though our future spring afternoons may not afford the same freedoms to relax on the front lawn or clear our schedules to play Frisbee golf, we still have the foundations to rely on each other and this community.

So as you walk bravely into that new world, think of the Muhlenbubble and never forget the last words of Chuckles the Clown, "A little song. A little dance. A little seltzer down your pants."

- Gil Schpero, Baccalaureate Address 2011

michael williams

"...I know that I promised a lot of you that I'd quote the one and only Notorious B.I.G...Biggie Smalls, and I'm not going to lie, I almost bailed. But then a few weeks back, President Obama not only referenced both Biggie and Tupac, but also played ODB's Shimmy Shimmy Ya during his speech at the White House Correspondents' dinner. One quote in particular, provides a great starting point for what I'd like to speak about today. So, the Notorious B.I.G. once said, "Stay far from timid, only make moves when your heart's in it, and live the phrase sky's the limit."

"...Throughout your life you are presented with various opportunities. Explore them all, to the best of your ability, and find out what you like.

Only after your exploration will you be able to recognize avenues to pursue. I stand up here today to urge you to pursue them to the fullest and as passionately as you can. Don't worry about falling short of expectations. Dostoyevsky once said, "to go wrong in one's way is better then to go right in someone else's." These last four years, the college experience, as we've all seen, passes by with unrivaled pace, just as life will."

"...Last Sunday, there was an article in the New York Times, titled "Major Delusions". The author talked about how college grads are often irrationally optimistic about the future. My question is this: How can we be irrationally optimistic about the future, when we are holding the cards? We are the future. Inherent in all of us is the power and greatness to change this world... Always remember, the greatest barrier to success is the fear of failure. Each one of you posses the tools for greatness and I have no doubt that you will all be great. No matter what anybody tells you, words and ideas can change the world. Continue to carry the Muhlenberg tradition in the manner you have. I wish you all much more then luck."

"Apart from saying congratulations to all of you, and I do say it, congratulations, mazel tov, it's very exciting, a whole new bunch of grads, ready for the world, for the public conversation, for the work of repairing the world and preparing the public conversation. Ready and able and, I dare say, eager to elevate the terms of the vast public debate in which you, American citizens, have a place prepared if you will claim it. You, with your heads and hearts as full of fierce and fiery ideas, fresh as they are ever likely to be; you who are not, by virtue of a superlative education that you have received at its common openness and engaged skepticism and reckless curiosity; you who are not the sort of grim careerists and ideologues and middle minded misadventurers who have seized the public debate and garbled it and reduced it to babble and ruin and ran with it straight to the ninth circle of hell, dragging behind them the glory of our republic. You will rescue us from these dreadful, dreadful people, and we, who are old, are deeply grateful and deeply proud as well as scared witless."

"Everywhere, the world is in need of repair. Fix it. Solve these things. You need only the tools that you have learned here, even if you didn't pay as much attention as you should, even if you're a mess and broke and facing a future of economic terror. Who isn't? Who doesn't? Help. Help. Help. The world is calling. Heal the world, and in the process, heal yourself. Find the human in yourself by finding the citizen, the activist, the hero... Duty calls. The world calls. Get active. No summer vacation, no rest for you. We have been waiting too long for you. We need your contribution too desperately..."

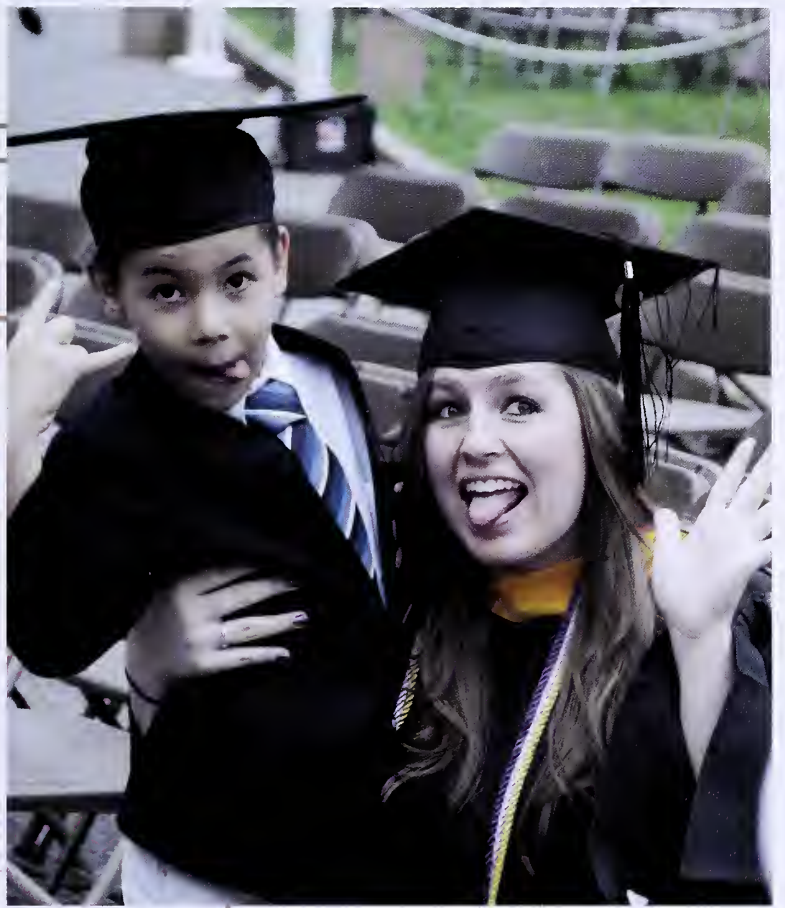

"Every step you take from this point on counts. Life and its terrors, terrible and splendid, awaits... Act. Act. Act. The world is hungry for you. The world has waited for you. The world has a place for you. Take your place. Change the World."

“Such a simple concept, yet so true: that which we manifest is before us; we are the creators of our own destiny. Be it through intention or ignorance, our successes and our failures have been brought on by none other than ourselves.”

- Garth Stein

On this memorable day, we want to congratulate you on reaching this wonderful plateau. You have shown all that have crossed your path that you are a unique and special individual. We wish you all the love and support for your future endeavors in and out of medical school. It is obvious to everyone who knows you that you will clearly make an impact in the field of medicine.

We are so very proud of all that you have accomplished during your four years at Muhlenberg College and cannot wait to see what you do with the next chapter of your life. Good luck in Drexel Medical School.

All Our Love,
Mom and Dad,

Blair,

We know that this day has been a long time coming for you but for us it came in the blink of an eye. You have grown from a beautiful little girl to a gorgeous woman right before our eyes. You have accomplished so much in such a short time and we know that you will continue these accomplishments as you go through your life's journey.

Congratulations on your college graduation, and remember that this is not the end; it is only the beginning.

We love you very much.

Congratulations, Class of 2011!

The Ciarla Staff would like to thank the parents of the Class of 2011 for their continued support of the yearbook.

editors' note

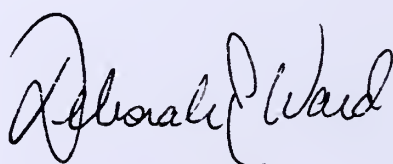

Congratulations to the Class of 2011! We are sad to see so many of our good friends in the graduating class leave, but we know that they are moving on to bigger and better things. Which is pretty cliché to say, but what can you expect from the people who cover the same events every year? Of course, that doesn't mean that all of campus is stagnant - in fact, quite the opposite is true. Last summer, students all anxiously watched the construction of the new addition to Seegers Union on the live web feed (or, at least, the yearbook staff did. We need something to fill the void left in our lives by the yearbook once it is published for the year). While we still hold Garden Room dear to our hearts, we have to admit that the new Wood Dining Commons (pages 44-45) is pretty impressive. And let's not forget the massive renovation and doubling in size of Hillel (pages 42-43).

Despite all of these big changes on Muhlenberg campus, some things will always remain comfortably familiar. West Fest will be on the west side of campus, the comedian (armed with a microphone stand) will be lit by spotlight, someone will dance on a table at Midnight Breakfast, hats will fly at graduation, and parents will be proud. To the Class of 2011, we hope that this yearbook does justice to everything, both old and new, that you have encountered as Muhlenberg undergraduates.

A few notes on the book itself: This is the longest issue of the Ciarla that has been published in recent memory (a whopping 224 pages, and still for the low price of only $65!). Most of that bonus space is occupied by the 31 pages that hold all 75 of our Parent Pride Ads - that's a lot of proud parents! As you can imagine, it takes a lot of work to fill all of those pages, and we couldn't have done it without our amazing staff members, advisor, Jill Lowery, and fabulous publishing rep, Ed Patrick. We would like to give special thanks to Dana Shuldiner and Shari Goldenberg, members of the Class of 2011 who somehow found time amidst all of the chaos of second semester senior year and graduation to help us with this year's Ciarla.

We will sign off now for this year with an exclusive, behind-the-scenes look at the production of the Ciarla. To your right, please examine and enjoy a few snippets of the assorted insanity left in the book as placeholders while we were working on collecting the "actual" content. It is our special gift to the Class of 2011. Congratulations!

Until next year,

Ciarla Yearbook

Don't even think about sending me pictures from Facebook.

this is the song that never ends.. it just goes on and on my friends..
some people started singing it not knowing what it was and now they keep on singing it forever just because..

ED IS THE MAN!!!

The Ciarla editors in their natural setting: some event, somewhere, with cameras.

SCIENCE!

I love to sit and think and dream,
 And oft conspire.
 And yet amid the swelling stream
 Of fond desire,
 My heart turns ever to Thee,
 Alma Mater, Alma Mater.
 Thee will I ever sing,
 To Thee my heart shall cling.
 Of thee my praises ring
 Oh Muhlenberg, Alma Mater,
 O my Muhlenberg.
